SYNOPSIS

Julian has extensive experience in leading large architectural and consultant teams, and has worked on a number of significant major projects, both in Australia and overseas.

Julian works with clients from the earliest stages of a project right through to completion. His broad sector experience incorporates commercial, residential, educational, infrastructure and urban design projects.

Most recently, Julian has led the architectural team on the large 100,000 sqm commercial development at 140 Queen Street. Prior to this, he led the team on the $1.5 billion Crown Hotel development at Barangaroo in Sydney.

Earlier in his career, before joining Bates Smart, Julian lived and worked in London. It was during this time that Julian acquired valuable experience working on large scale infrastructure projects, including some of the UK's most significant transport projects such as King's Cross Station, Paddington Station and Crossrail Station.
