SYNOPSIS

Johan is a talented architect, who has been actively involved in and contributed to a broad range of projects including in the early design and planning stages. He has a dedicated commitment to the highest standard in the initiation of design concepts establishing the design methodology and systems for others to assist in developing in later stages.

Johan is particularly motivated by the artistic, technological and cultural pursuits of architecture. He has a strong sense of conceptualisation and expression, together with a honed ability to translate design concepts in 3D.

His interest in research and further studies has led him to teach architecture design studios at both RMIT University and Melbourne University.
